

Climate Change Resilience in Bass Coast.

A field day on agricultural capacity and capability to adapt to change.

You are invited to this exciting field day on climate change resilience in Bass Coast.

Soil Scientist Declan McDonald will be speaking on the following:

- Things to consider when thinking about innovation and diversification;
- Climate change and its impacts on Agriculture in Bass Coast;
- The planning scheme and its impacts on Agriculture in Bass Coast;
- Examples of diversification activities in Gippsland;
- Land capability assessment- how to apply it to your own property;
- Development of options on Case Study property in Woodleigh;
- Diversification and Innovation 'how-to-start checklist.

Event Details

Thursday April 26th, 2018

Time:

10am registration for a 10.30am start, finish time at 2pm.

Venue:

Morning session - Kernot Hall.

Google maps - <https://goo.gl/maps/ewzUUYJlWXd2>

Afternoon session - Woodleigh farm walk

Google maps - <https://goo.gl/maps/F5AEWLJFgIo>

Look out for the Landcare event sign.

Morning tea and lunch provided.

RSVP essential. Please visit:

<https://climatechangeresilience.eventbrite.com.au>

For further details, please call the Bass Coast Landcare Network Office on 5678 2335.

This project is supported by the Bass Coast Landcare Network, East Gippsland Food Cluster, VegNET Gippsland and The West Gippsland CMA, through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Program, Horticulture Innovation Australia and Bass Coast Shire Council.