

REGENERATIVE FARMING WORKSHOPS WITH

CHARLES MASSY

It took a drought and some deep reflection to turn farmer and author Charles Massy from a conventional farmer to one of the leading thinkers in regenerative agriculture today.

All farmers are welcome to come and hear Charles talk about;

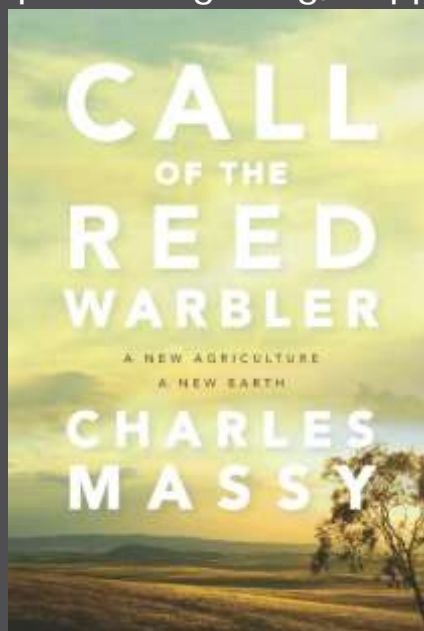

- current challenges farmers face with climate, soil health, water, biodiversity;
- how regenerative agriculture provides the best solutions to these issues, but also how we need ecological literacy to do this;
- some of the best examples from Australia and overseas in regenerative agriculture and new developments in grazing, cropping & silvo-pasture.
