Tailored Corporate Partnership Program Packages

There are many ways your organisation can support the important work of the Bass Coast Landcare Network and its member groups across our Landscapes. BCLN continues to ride the wave of short government funding cycles and funding uncertainty. By collaborating with groups and organisations such as yours we have the opportunity to provide certainty and ongoing support in core areas of the BCLN. If your company is looking to expand their Corporate Social Responsibility Framework and become more environmentally responsible, the following Bass Coast Landcare Network Programs are worthy of your support and can be packaged into programs that suit your unique needs.

Environmental Detectives - connecting kids with Nature

BCLN is committed to engaging the next generation in Landcare through environmental education and is a Childsafe organisation hosting a number of youth and school activities through our Environmental Detectives program. Since 2010, over 450 activities with 38 schools in Bass Coast, South Gippsland and Latrobe Valley, have involved over 10,000 students. This established and popular program of 10 curriculum linked activities is currently running on a fee for service basis, which is a huge barrier for schools to participate. These students are our future Land stewards and with your support we can engage more schools and students to participate in activities that will ignite their passion for the local environment and once ignited, it is hard to ever put out!

The River Garden - Community trials, demonstration and education

The River Garden is envisaged as a hub for education, trials and community, centered around regenerative soil management practices, nutrient dense growing techniques and local food systems, from the backyard garden to horticulture and broad acre farming. A range of trials will be run on the site to encourage innovation and diversification of agriculture in the Bass Coast. We envisage a cross pollination between the community garden and trials aspect of the project with outcomes and findings from each informing the other. As well as being a community place for growing things, it will also be a place for learning and education with a regular program of workshops and school activities at areas of the site set up as outdoor classrooms. We hope to host regular volunteer days and eventually use the commercial kitchen in the Bass hall for cooking and preserving demonstrations with the wonderful produce from the garden. There are many areas of this high-profile site on the side of the Bass Highway in Bass that can be used for future trials which could incorporate community workshops and volunteer programs that can be packaged up as a partnership program to suit your needs.

Landcare Groups Retaining, Restoring and Revegetating the Landscape

Each year, our Landcare Groups have a long list of Landholders with quality revegetation or restoration projects waiting for support for plants and fencing to enable them to achieve their goals for not only their properties but to contribute to landscape scale change and bring biodiversity back to the cleared hills of the Bass Coast Landscape. With less than 10% of pre-settlement vegetation remaining in some areas of Bass Coast, your support is needed now more than ever to restore vegetation cover to sustainable levels of 30% or above. Revegetation and restoration programs can be tailored to specific locations, to match your organisation's interests or to increase your Corporate Social Responsibility profile and reputation as a Sustainable organization.

Training for Master Land Stewards

BCLN has held many field days, workshops and discussion groups, mostly involving visiting various properties with guest speakers talking about specialist topics. Recent events including a Master Tree Growers course, Grazfert workshops, Soil health workshops, Innovation and Diversification discussion groups, farm tours and a Beekeeping course have all been fully booked. This is a great sponsorship option for a high profile placement of your organisation's brand to not only our membership but across our wide promotional base for all events run by BCLN. Support can be tailored to events that match with your organisation's values and specific needs.

Fee for Service

BCLN also offers a wide range of fee for service activities for your organisation including:

- Works Crew Services - Contracting services for Land Management
- Pest Plant and Animal Control Services
- Land Management Planning
